Body is on Way to La Crosse in Charge of a Military Escort

SERVICES HERE WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON IN LOCAL CHURCH

All Local Guard Units to Turn Out for Funeral

MADISON, Wis.—The legislature Tuesday, after receiving a large number of bills, adopted a resolution of regret over the death of Adjutant General Orlando Holway, and adjourned out of honor to his memory.

A joint resolution adopted by the houses detailed the military career of General Holway and expressed grief over the loss of "a capable administrator, a valiant soldier and a good citizen."

FUNERAL services for Adjutant General Orlando Holway, head of the Wisconsin National guard, were held at the home in Madison at 11:30 Tuesday morning, Rev. H. H. Lumpkin officiating. With 5 military escort, the body is being brought to La Crosse this afternoon and will arrive here at 5:50.

Funeral services here will be held in Christ Episcopal church at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon, Chaplain W. P. Hood of the 128th Infantry, Superior, will officiate, and arrangements will be in charge of local National guard officers. Guard units here will escort the body to the grave, with the Tomah Headquarters company and the 105th Cavalry band.

Honorary Pallbearers

Honorary pallbearers will be Brigadier General R. B. McCoy, Sparta, commander of the 64th Infantry brigade; Colonel Wilbur M. Lee, Oconto, 128th Infantry; Colonel Paul R. Clemens, Sykesville, 128th Infantry; Colonel George F. O'Connell, Madison, 1st Infantry; Colonel A. A. Kuechenmeister, Milwaukee, 120th Field Artillery, and Colonel James J. Quill, Milwaukee, 105th Cavalry. Active pallbearers will be two enlisted men from each of the three Madison companies of the Wisconsin National guard.

National guard officers from Madison are escorting the body to La Crosse. Colonel Ralph Immell, military secretary to the governor; Lieutenant Colonel John G. Salsman, Lieutenant Colonel Earl S. Driver, assistant to the adjutant general; Lieutenant Colonel T. B. Beveridge, inspector general's department; Major John B. Sanborn, judge advocate of the 32nd Cavalry division, and Captain Leo B. Levenick, adjutant of the 127th Infantry, form the escort.

Tributes to Holway

Adjutant General Orlando Holway, who died Saturday night, typified the citizen soldier, Governor John J. Blaine said in a statement issued today.

"He believed the volunteer citizen soldier, as represented by the National guard, to be the nation's safest defense and the antidote to militarism," the governor said.

"He had a deep sense of honor and of public service, always cool, level headed and generous. The state and the National guard will feel his loss keenly."

In a communication to Lieutenant Colonel Egbert Beveridge written late Saturday night after he had received notice of General Holway's death, General Charles King wrote:

"When I got back from St. John's and found no telegram after having seen an account in the papers of the general's condition I began to revive the hope that our fervent prayers might be answered, but it was hoping against hope, and in my old age I stand bereft of the most loyal, devoted friend that ever I knew; the man I held head and shoulders above the adjutants general of my acquaintance in this or any other state; the bravest soldier of the National guard. I had always liked and admired him in the old days but had come to love him as I did no other man in the army or the National guard. The loss to us is overwhelming."

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad is arranging a special coach for the movement of troops to this city Wednesday noon from Eau Claire. The 105th Cavalry band of Eau Claire will come here, together with officers and enlisted men of the Wisconsin National guard.

Employers of local members of the National guard are requested to release their men from work at noon so they may turn out for the funeral of General Holway.

READY TO SIGN PEACE TREATY POWERS TOLD

Events Take More Favorable Turn With Re-opening of Peace Conference at Lausanne a Possibility

CLAIM BREAK WAS CAUSED BY FRICTION IN TURK DELEGATION

Economic Clauses of Treaty Reserved for Future Negotiations

LAUSANNE.—It is understood here that Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation to the near east peace conference, may be asked by the allies to delay his departure, announced for Wednesday morning, if the negotiations now going on among the chancelleries in Paris, London and Rome result in an agreement to resume negotiations.

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—Advices received at Paris from Lausanne state that the Near East conference has not been terminated officially and that Ismet Pasha is ready to accept the allied treaty if the Turkish delegates are permitted to discuss further the economic clauses.

PARIS.—The reopening of the near east conference at Lausanne was said in official circles here this afternoon to depend on the British government's reply to Premier Poincare's note of Monday. In this note the French premier made it known to Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, that the Turks were disposed to accept the allied proposal for a settlement of the capitulations question.

It is understood at the foreign offices that the Turks are ready to resume the conference where it broke off Sunday evening, and this is the suggestion Premier Poincare has made to London and Rome with the understanding that none of the questions already settled be reopened.

The break at Lausanne Sunday is attributed in French official circles to the fact that there was friction within the Turkish delegation and that the Turks had not fully appreciated the extent of ground the conference had gone over and that the time had come to bring it to an end.

It is thought now that the Turks are ready to resume the conference with a disposition that promises an early and successful termination of the negotiations.

Turks Ready to Sign?

LONDON.—Reuter's Lausanne correspondent was informed early this afternoon that M. Bompard, head of the French delegation, had intimated that there was a possibility of the near east treaty being signed almost immediately.

M. Bompard, head of the French delegation at Lausanne, had a long talk with Ismet Pasha before leaving for Paris, details of which he telegraphed to Premier Poincare, who received his message late Monday afternoon. Ismet was more completely informed of the intentions of the allies in the event a settlement was not reached.

Ismet did not persist in his uncompromising attitude of Sunday night, and accepted the text of the capitulations previously submitted to him, thus removing the only obstacle to the signature of the treaty. The reservations of the Turks on other points, such as Mosul, have already been accepted by the allies. Premier Poincare hastened to transmit this favorable news to London.

Ismet Pasha told M. Bompard that if he should make a hurried trip to Angora it was fully understood that the Mudania armistice would continue in force at least during his absence.

Agree on Judicial Terms

LAUSANNE.—Riza Nur Bey of the Turkish delegation of the Near East conference said Tuesday that Turkey and the powers had reached an accord on the juridical capitulations but that there was still important financial matters on which an agreement had not been effected.

The Turks announced that they would leave for Angora at six o'clock Wednesday morning. They said that offers had been made to eliminate from the treaty the economic clauses to which they have objected, leaving such questions to further negotiations.

Ismet Pasha early Tuesday telephoned the American delegation ask-

OLIVER IS CLEARED OF ASSAULT CHARGE OF FORMER WIFE

Jury Only 15 Minutes in Reaching Verdict; Last of Oliver Family Jars Disposed of

SOPHIE SKAFF DAMAGE CASE IS SETTLED OUT OF COURT

Prairie du Chien Men Fined on Liquor Charges

CHARLES REED OLIVER was found not guilty at a jury trial in circuit court Monday of charges of assault brought by his former wife, Anna Oliver Knutson. The jury was out about fifteen minutes. A sealed verdict was returned which was opened by Judge Higbee Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Knutson, nee Oliver, alleged that Oliver accosted her on George street on the night of December 1, 1921, while she was on her way to the home of an acquaintance to get a dress pattern. She charged that he struck her and knocked her down, injuring her nose and eye when her eyeglasses were torn off and injuring her arm, and kicking her in the back after she had fallen. Oliver's defense was that he was "shadowing" his wife and that when she saw him she turned to run, stumbling and falling in the unpaved street. Arthur Holmes defended Oliver and Albert C. Wolf for Mrs. Knutson.

Verdict for Mrs. Storlie

Mrs. Minerva Storlie won a directed verdict from a jury in circuit court Tuesday morning in her suit against Harry Hanson, Edward G. Ross and Lawrence Rose. Mrs. Storlie was awarded $385. Hanson had a quick delivery business which he sold to Ross. Ross sold out to Rose. Mrs. Storlie had an equity of $475 in some north side property. She sold her interests to Hanson who paid $100 cash and turned over to her the contract he had with Ross and Rose for the sale of the delivery business. Rose complained that the delivery business was not as represented. The court held that the contract with Hanson and Ross was legal and binding and made in good faith and that Rose had been working in the delivery business of Hanson and Ross for two weeks prior to taking it over. The court then directed the jury to bring in a verdict in favor of Mrs. Storlie against Ross and Hanson. Mahoney & Schubert represented Mrs. Storlie, Cowie & Hale for Rose, and F. E. Withrow for Hanson.

The action brought by Solomon A. and Mary Skaff, parents of Sophie Skaff, killed by an automobile owned by Ray Zeigelmeier, at Sixth and Main streets, two years ago, was settled out of court. Zeigelmeier was sued for death damages. His attorney was F. E. Withrow. George H. Gordon, Law & Gordon were lawyers for the Skaffs. The amount of the settlement was not made public.

The suit brought by Frank A. Chase against J. H. Schaller, growing out of a land contract, also was settled out of court. A. C. Wolfe was Chase's counsel and Cowie & Hale for Schaller.

Two Fines in Liquor Cases

Hugh Robinson, charged with burglary in the night time, was sentenced to a year in state's prison by Judge Higbee in circuit court Monday afternoon. Robinson entered a plea of guilty through his lawyer, F. E. Withrow. He was alleged to have stolen some old brass, valued at about $7 from a storehouse run by Meyer M. Reiman. The only explanation given by Robinson to the court was that he was drunk at the time and had no recollection of taking the junk.

Eugene Cahalan and Charles Knorr of Prairie du Chien, entered pleas of guilty to charges of illegal possession of liquor and transporting liquor. A quantity of alcohol was found in their homes by federal prohibition agents. The defendants claimed that the liquor did not belong to them, that it had been left at their homes by friends. Both were fined $100 and costs by Judge Higbee.

SONS OF MORSE TO TRIAL WITH FATHER ON WAR CHARGES

NEW YORK.—Benjamin and Harry Morse, scheduled to go on trial in Washington Tuesday with their father, Charles W. Morse, their brother Ervin and eight other defendants for alleged war frauds, were arrested by department of justice agents at the Pennsylvania terminal Tuesday morning.

The Morse brothers were arraigned before Federal Judge Winslow on charges of conspiring with Charles W. Morse, their father, and 21 other defendants, to use the mails to defraud steamship stock purchasers.

TRAFFIC BUREAU OF C. OF C. PETITIONS TO RESTORE TRAINS

Ask for Restoration of Trains Numbers 507 and 508 on C. N. & W. Railroad

PUBLIC HEARING IS HELD HERE TUESDAY BY R. R. COMMISSION

Hearing Conducted by SeChevcrell, Secretary of Commission

C. D. SeChevcrell, secretary of the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin conducted a hearing at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday morning on the petition of the traffic bureau of the Chamber of Commerce for the restoration of trains number 507 and 508 on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad. These trains one of which leaves La Crosse for the east at 8 o'clock in the morning and the other west-bound at noon, were discontinued on July 24, 1922.

W. W. West, chairman of the traffic bureau of the Chamber, conducted the case for the plaintiffs calling several witnesses from various towns in the vicinity affected by the removal of the two trains from the railroad's schedule. All of these witnesses testified that the removal of the trains causes loss of time and money through the fact that connections which were possible prior to July 24th are now impossible. The witnesses called represented manufacturers, wholesalers, insurance companies, real estate concerns, hotels and all of the hospitals of the city as well as the hospital at Sparta. Galesville College of Galesville was represented by a witness who testified as to the loss of time and inconvenience caused to the students of that institution in going to and returning from their homes.

Railroad Official Here

G. B. Vilas, general superintendent of the C. and N. W. located at Chicago, was the first witness called for the railroad company by R. H. Wilcombe, attorney for the company. He testified that the train service under consideration was discontinued last summer because of the shortage of coal and the lack of motive power at that time due to strike conditions. He further testified that the traffic along the route covered by the two trains was so slight at the time that they were discontinued as to make it unprofitable to operate the trains. Under cross examination by Mr. West Mr. Vilas stated that the coal supply is now adequate enough to meet all demands, but that the motive power of the road is still in bad shape, and that even with a shop force on the system equal to 112 percent of normal it has been impossible so far to recuperate from the effects of last summer's shop men's strike. C. F. Balch, assistant general auditor of the railroad company, presented sets of statistics to prove that the business done by the discontinued trains previous to the discontinuance was not sufficient to warrant their restoration.

The testimony offered by witnesses for the petitioners was to show that the removal of the trains caused delay to traveling men and general inconvenience to all travelers from Winona, the last town on the route of the trains, to Madison and beyond.

RESISTANCE OF GERMANY TAKES ON NEW VIGOR

Banished Burgomaster of Duesseldorf to Take Control of Affairs in "Lost Province"

INDICATES BERLIN GOVERNMENT IS PREPARING FOR LONG FIGHT

Rationing of Food in Ruhr Occupied Zone First Task of "Hoover of Germany"

WASHINGTON.—Through its embassy here the German government Tuesday denied formally that its policy of resistance to the French occupation of the Ruhr had been modified and declared that on the contrary, "unanimous resistance on the part of Germany is steadily growing.

BERLIN.—By The Associated Press.—Chancellor Cuno returned to Berlin Tuesday from a two-day tour of the occupied Ruhr area convinced, he said, that the determination of the population to resist the French coercive measures was just as firm today as when the first of the occupying forces entered Essen on January 11.

DUESSELDORF, Germany.—Herr Schmidt, banished burgomaster of Duesseldorf, was named "Ruhr director" by the German government Monday.

Herr Schmidt is to be the leader of the economic war with France and he will exercise supreme authority over the inhabitants and local officials in the "lost province." The former burgomaster, who was appointed by Chancellor Cuno during his visit to the Ruhr, will hold a portfolio in the German cabinet and will be officially designated as "special minister for Ruhr affairs."

Herr Schmidt's appointment gave little comfort to the French because it is generally considered as evidence of the determination of the German government to wage a long fight against the French attempt to mine coal in the Ruhr and collect customs, the proceeds to be applied to the reparations account.

The "Hoover of Germany"

The first duty of Schmidt, it is understood, will be to ration food for the inhabitants of the Ruhr in conformity with promises made by the German government. In matters of food control the minister for Ruhr affairs will have almost dictatorial powers, as broad as were exercised by food dictators in most nations during the world war.

The "dictator" has had wide experience and is believed to be eminently fitted for his new postion. During the war he was the "Herbert Hoover of Germany."

It has not been made known whether Herr Schmidt will attempt to establish himself in the Ruhr or whether he will direct affairs from Berlin. It is unlikely that he would run the risk of arrest by entering the industrial area from which he had been expelled.

"War" Spreads to Baden

Passive resistance has now spread from the Ruhr to Baden, the German state to the east of Lorraine, in which the French have seized Offenburg and Appenweier as reprisals for the action of the German government in cancelling the Paris-Baden-Prague express trains. The inhabitants of the state are refusing to comply with any orders of the French military.

According to German officials, the French seized the towns to split north and south Germany and to link Austria, Bavaria and Baden, which are all Catholic states, with France. The French, however, vehemently deny this charge.

Can't Meet Money Demand

The shortage of paper marks in the Ruhr caused by the increase of prices for foodstuffs and commodities has caused a serious situation in this industrial area. The government printing presses in Berlin, despite the fact that they are working at capacity, are unable to provide the marks for wholesale shipment to the Ruhr.

The recent collapse of the mark, which sold 43,000 to the dollar today, coupled with the increase in the cost of living, has doubled the demand for money.

It may become necessary to ration marks in the Ruhr, as has been done in Berlin and other parts of Germany. Marks of small denominations have been withdrawn from circulation because with prices at such a high level

HIGHWAY BILL ESTIMATED TO RAISE EIGHT MILLION READY FOR COMMITTEES

License Fee, Based Upon Weight, to Range from 65 Cents to $1.00 Per Hundredweight; Bill Will Double Revenues Obtained from Automobile Owners of the State

MADISON, Wis.—By the Associated Press.—A graduated license fee, based upon weight, is outlined in a tentative highway bill to be brought before the joint highway committee of the legislature at its meeting Wednesday night. This measure, drawn by A. R. Hirst, state chief highway engineer, provides a schedule of fees, application of which is estimated to raise $8,000,000 annually.

Under terms of the bill drawn by the highway engineer at the direction of the legislative committee, automobiles up to 2,000 pounds would pay 65 cents for each one hundred pounds; between 2,000 pounds and 2,800 pounds, 80 cents, and all over 2,800 pounds would pay $1.00 on the same basis.

This in effect is an automobile weight surtax, apportioned in such a way as to place the heaviest burden of highway cost on the owner of the heaviest car. It would produce $8,000,000 annually from the 438,000 automobiles which it is estimated will be used throughout Wisconsin during 1924.

According to tables prepared by Mr. Hirst, 64.5 per cent of the automobiles would go in the first weight class; 17.72 per cent would fall in the second class, and 17.78 per cent would be in the third class.

Personal property taxes on automobiles in Wisconsin would continue to be levied as in the past, under the committee bill. It is a less comprehensive proposal than that offered by the legislative committee of the county boards association, although estimated to double present returns from automobile owners.

Kill Horse-Power Tax Plan

The plan of Governor Blaine for a combined horse-power and weight license fee was blasted by the committee when Mr. Hirst brought in a table showing that 33 makes of cars, more expensive than the Ford, had a smaller horsepower, resulting in a relatively high tax for the cheaper car.

Besides establishing a graduated license fee based on weight, the committee highway bill would increase the mileage of state trunk highways from 7,500 to 10,000. This would relieve the counties of maintenance and construction on 2,500 additional miles of road and place an added burden on the state to be met out of the $8,000,000 realized from application of the license fee.

Continue Aid to Counties

Present state aid totaling $785,000 for construction and $100,000 for bridge work would be continued to the counties. Federal aid amounting to $2,600,000 annually is to be met by the state out of the fund, while $168,000 would be appropriated to the highway department for operation.

The graduated weight tax represents committee solution of the highway financing problem in Wisconsin. Whether the legislature will see fit to make changes in the committee scheme will not be known until the bill reaches the floor.

HERE'S HOW NEW PLAN WOULD TAX YOUR AUTOMOBILE

TWELVE THOUSAND KILLED BY MOTORS DURING 1922

New York had the largest number of auto fatalities, 785, which did not include the month of December, and Chicago had 736. Los Angeles ranked third with 321.

FASHION DICTATORS DISAGREE OVER THE NEED FOR GALLUSES

Red Galluses, Declared Indispensable by One, Not Even Mentioned by Second Style Expert.

CHICAGO, Ill. (Special.)—"What has happened to the red galluses?"

Samuel Regan of New York, vice president of the American Fashion company, didn't even mention them Monday in his address before the convention of merchant tailors.

A few days ago word was received from Detroit that A. Lincoln Stadler, of New York, said "fashion decrees galluses, red ones, must hold 'em up."

The question is "will they or won't they?"

However, man's natural beauty of form is not to be exaggerated any longer by bell bottomed trousers, wasp waists, narrow shoulders or vests that show a surreptitious shirt in back, according to Regan.

Conservatism is the keynote for the new spring styles. Two button double breasted coats or three button single breasted closings will be in vogue for business wear.

Little pleats gathered to a narrow shoulder yoke will replace the old golf pleat on the shoulder for sports wear.

Cuffs will be worn on trousers of sports suits and only those suits made of loose heavy tweeds will be considered "quite the thing."

The morning coat and the cutaway worn with a black vest and gray striped trousers are coming back, which means high hats, yellow gloves, canes and everything.

Tuxedos are only for stage affairs.

Buttons will be shiny, all of them.

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

Odds and Ends of State Affairs by William J. Anderson

MADISON, Wis.—Apparently without any hesitancy the senate this week confirmed the appointment of Elmer C. Hall, formerly secretary of state, to succeed C. L. Harrington, forestry member of the conservation commission. The law requires that one member of the commission shall be a trained forester, another an expert in fish culture and a third a business man. It is the intention of the administration to do away with the conservation commission and put one man in charge of the department as it was in the halcyon days of the game warden, when along about 1904 as high as twenty game wardens were credited to Milwaukee. But even with that in view it was a rather unusual proceeding for the senate to confirm a man in direct disregard of the law requiring that a trained forester be appointed.

The two tax bills presented this week, the Severson bill in the senate and the Dahl bill in the assembly, are a long way from harmonizing closely. If the governor retains control of the senate it is likely the Dahl bill will get the right of way, as it is generally understood that Severson has not been as tractable as was considered desirable by the administration.

The department of markets has begun a campaign to enforce the potato marketing law. The present regulations require labeling of cars or tagging of sacks of potatoes to show the grade of the product or the fact that it is ungraded. The compulsory inspection service utilized in 1921 has been supplanted by a voluntary system conducted by the state department of markets in conjunction with the United States department of agriculture. The tagging and marking orders are in full effect, however, as in 1920 and so far have never been successfully challenged in court as to their validity. Out of fourteen porate prosecutions brought in 1922 the department was successful in eleven. Two cases were dismissed for lack of evidence and one is still pending.

Senator Barber, who is a physician, has again introduced a bill requiring premarital examination for women, as is now required for men. Two years ago the senator introduced a similar bill, but it failed. Before the committee on public welfare the Senator painted a lurid picture of unsuspecting young husbands having their lives ruined because the state did not require the women to produce a certificate of good condition before marrying.

With the non-partisan league introducing scores of petitions, favoring the enactment of a tax law especially favorable to farmers, and the leaders of the two houses introducing conflicting tax measures, prospect for some needed amendments to the tax laws is not bright. The non-partisan leaguers, which, it is gossiped around, are no longer in the good graces of the governor, desire a $1,500 property exemption for farmers, and an increase in the income tax exemption to equal that of the federal law. They demand also the enactment of a measure similar to the Grimstead bill introduced in the last session, that would tax heavily the unearned increment in land.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of calonite powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The calonite powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

CLARK COUNTY SOLON TAKES SEAT TUESDAY FOR THE FIRST TIME

$1,500 VERDICT RETURNED IN BRIDE'S AUTO DEATH

MENOMINEE, Mich.—The jury which heard the $15,000 damage suit brought against Joseph Tallent by Anton Frankard, returned a verdict of $1,500 for the plaintiff. The case grew out of an automobile accident which resulted in the death of Mrs. Erna La Chapelle, daughter of Mr. Frankard, who was run down by a car driven by Mrs. Tallent. The accident happened a few days after the marriage of Mrs. La Chapelle.

HOUSE COMMITTEE APPROVES BILL TO CUT IMMIGRATION

WASHINGTON.—The number of immigrants eligible to admission to the United States under the existing restriction act would be reduced by more than half under a section of a new immigration bill approved Monday by the house immigration committee.

General Holway's Legacy

LA CROSSE was perhaps the more stunned and shocked by word of the death of General Holway because this was his native county, this for years his home. On the personal side it is probable that more people in La Crosse cherish intimate recollections of him than elsewhere in the state. But the loss of General Holway as head and center of the immaculate tradition of the Wisconsin National Guard is as keenly felt elsewhere in the state, even in Washington itself, as it can be here in the General's home. For in literal truth General Holway has been the genius of the Wisconsin National Guard. It was his spirit and his ideals that, entering into it after the disorganization which came to it in the Spanish war, made it the national example, the well-nigh perfect type within the limits of its possibilities which it proved itself to be when the test of war came. There has been, during the service of General Holway as adjutant general, something about the Wisconsin National Guard which no other state has equalled. One or two only approached it. And that something, that esprit de corps, that willing striving for excellence, for intelligent and loyal performance of duty, was as all men know who knew the General, the radiation of his own conception of his duty.

Monday's dispatches from Washington voice the appreciation of this characteristic of General Holway in quarters where the work of all the commanders of all the states is compared and valued. In Wisconsin it might be possible to accept the precision, spirit and ideals of the guard without reflection, as all a part of ordinary military routine. General Holway no doubt helped to create this attitude by the entire absence of fuss or show with which he went about his work. He never sought public recognition—newspaper men recall him as difficult and shy of publicity. But at Washington they know better how far he rose above the average level of his colleagues. And that the army chiefs depended upon his intelligence and knowledge is shown by the frequency with which his advice was called for. Insofar as they found it possible the militia bureau has spread to all the states the methods of the Wisconsin guard. What they could not give, what kept Wisconsin in its place of pre-eminence, was the personal influence of Orlando Holway.

If one were to sum up the great achievement of General Holway in a sentence, it would be that he created a thoroughly efficient military organization of men in civil life that was not militaristic. That is a tremendously difficult thing to do. It is not too hard to teach drill to men, it is not too hard, given time enough, to train officers point perfect in military routine. But it requires the touch of genius in the doing if the process is not to make militarists of them. Military drill, military requirements of discipline and authority, almost inevitably tend to cascharden men subjected to their influence sufficiently to become expert. Yet in Wisconsin we have a National Guard organization proved, under the stress of war, to be equal in the field to the best of the professional army, which is nevertheless composed of men who preserve the civilian point of view: an organization ready and perfectly trained to fight, yet in no way war-like, in no sense anxious to test its sword. General Holway trained expert soldiers, but it is doubtful if his system ever made a jingo.

It will be hard to find another man who can so justly preserve the balance which our system of civilian military training requires for safety. There are not many Holways, as the briefest survey of the National Guard situation outside of Wisconsin will show. It may be that the loss of the General will be irreparable. But at least we have his magnificent tradition, the fine spirit he imparted to the organization, the broad foundation he laid. Men and officers of the guard, sorrowing at the death of their beloved and respected commander, will feel this spirit as his legacy to them and the state. Other men will take charge, but it will be long before the Holway tradition dies out of Wisconsin's National Guard. For the officers and men who have served under Holway will cherish it, will fight for it. They can do no less in honor of their state and of the memory of their General.

Outdoor Life

IF the boys you meet February 8 seem to be raising more of a rumpus than usually, it'll be in celebration of an event very important to Young America.

The Boy Scouts movement was incorporated and officially launched in our country February 8, 1910, two years after Sir Robert S. S. Baden-Powell started the organization in England. The general purpose of the Boy Scouts is to train lads in good citizenship, manhood and self-reliance. Its founders, displaying considerable knowledge of psychology, assured its success by adopting uniforms for the members. Man or boy, let him wear a uniform and he'll do almost anything. Some of our big national movements that fail might be successful if an attractive uniform went with membership.

Did it ever occur to you that the uniform is the first image that comes to your mind at mention of Boy Scouts?

Few of us have an accurate idea of the values the young generation get from the Boy Scouts. A Scout starts as a tenderfoot, then works up, by merit and ability, to second-class Scout, finally to first-class. To be a first-class Scout, a boy has to be able to swim 50 yards. He must have at least $2 in a savings bank. He must know how to wig-wag signals by flags. He has to be able to administer first-aid in case of accidents such as severed arteries and drowning. He must know how to read maps and make them, handle an ax, judge distances and be able to cook for campers. The Boy Scout pledges obedience to parents, kindness to animals, courtesy to all. He has instilled into him a high code of honor and practical applications of the Golden Rule and Good Samaritanism.

The best thing done by the Boy Scouts is that it takes its members back to nature. The closer, we keep to nature, the better for our nation. There is always hope for a civilization whose boys are prowling in the woods, hiking cross-country, studying birds and flowers and breathing fresh air. In our half-mad swarming in cities, we have given the boy a raw deal, stripped him of his rightful playgrounds, caged him up like an animal and handicapped him with unhealthful environment. For all this, the Boy Scouts movement is in the nature of an antidote.

This would be a whole lot better country to live in if the grown-ups started a similar organization to develop the same ideals of brotherhood and get us out into the open country occasionally, away from filth, poisonous air, maddening racket and nervous tension. We need an organization of Men Scouts and Women Scouts.

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

In the funeral today of Mrs. Julia Holden, colored, who died February 4 at her home, 720 George street, La Crosse witnessed the passing of one of the most unique characters it has ever known. "Black Julia," as she was called, has lived in La Crosse for over forty years. She came here from the south, where she was a slave, after the Civil war. She did not know her right name or where she was born.

The G. R. and W. R. Mentzinger company has purchased a building on North Third street from the La Crosse Carriage company and will use it in connection with the candy and cracker factory.

The annual banquet of the La Crosse County Medical association will be held at the La Crosse Club tonight. It promises to be one of the most elaborate affairs held during the past year, the feast having been prepared at a cost of $5 per plate.

John Lura, familiarly known as "Old Noah" to fishermen in this vicinity, was found dead yesterday in his cabin on West Channel. The body was frozen stiff, stooped over a table in the single little room. "Old Noah" has lived a hermit's life in the shack more years than the present generation of rivermen can remember. He was credited with almost superhuman knowledge concerning fishing, having many ways to catch fish when others couldn't get even a nibble.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Allen gave a seven o'clock dinner followed by cards Wednesday evening, in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday at Madison for a new cabinet factory in this city. Col. Copeland, Bert Van Steenwyk and Clark Thompson are the incorporators. The factory will be located on the north side.

Robert Bailey, who bore the recognition of being the oldest member of the stone cutters' union in America, died at the home of his son, David Bailey, yesterday. He was over 100 years old. He came to La Crosse in 1847. He cut the stone for the first cellar in the city.

Among the postmasters named recently for this district is G. H. Dodge, Arcadia.

Horace A. Winston, first police justice in La Crosse and for many years chief of the La Crosse police department, died last evening at his home on Mill street. He was seventy-five years old. He came to La Crosse in 1858.

R. E. Osborne and C. J. Felber, both of La Crosse, are among the La Crosse people in Washington, D. C. Mr. Osborne is on his way to the Bahama Islands. Mr. Felber leaves for New York tomorrow.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

At the home of the bride's parents, 826 South Sixth street, today, Miss Ada Weisbecker and Mr. William Linse were married by Rev. G. C. Reim of the German Lutheran church. The bride is the daughter of Phillip Weisbecker, veteran fireman of this city, and the bridegroom is the son of ex-Assemblyman Charles Linse of Shelby. The couple will live in Chippewa Falls where Mr. Linse has a steam laundry.

Rev. Father White of St. Mary's church has asked that the church be given a new fresco and that the windows be lowered to admit more light. The work will be begun at an early date.

Fred Fall, who went to Minneapolis some time ago to buy wheat for Cargill Brothers has decided to return and will go into the office of Cargill and Fall to keep books for the mills.

T. A. Lavake is placing a telephone in his grocery store.

A petition is being circulated to have a branch high school established on the north side.

Time To Save

Maud Denton told her two office chums that she wouldn't be able to have luncheon as usual with them that noon hour.

"Somebody asked you out," concluded Jane, and then, scrutinizing Maudie critically: "To bad you didn't know ahead of time, so you could have fixed up a little."

"Nobody's asked me out," informed Maud, "only I have an errand to do, and I'm just going to snatch a cup of chocolate and a sandwich at a drug store so I can back at 1."

"Getting some new clothes?" queried Helen, inwardly adding, "It's about time."

"No, I'm not getting any new clothes," laughed Maud. "I'm starting in saving with the Uptown Building and Loan association. You have to get your money in Thursday in every month. It's quite a walk, but I guess I can get there and back all right, in an hour if I don't have to waste much time on lunch."

Helen raised her eyebrows knowingly toward Jane. "There's always a reason when a girl begins to save. But, my goodness, I couldn't save enough to buy a set of muffin tins. The man who marries me will have to take me for what I am, I guess, not for my savings. A girl's got to keep up appearances—"

"I'm not going to get married," reported Maud. "I'm saving because it's time to save. I've been working five year, ever since I was nineteen, and I've never put by a sou permanently. And I was just thinking every, Suppose I go on like that. Nobody's going to pension me the way they do school teachers and firemen and things, and I don't believe I shall ever marry. Just imagine going on working in an office always. I pictured myself bobbing in to work on a cane when I was seventy or eighty. The Dentons are dreadfully long-lived. So I thought I'd begin to save; I could at least buy a berth in an old ladies' home." Inquired Maud. "So now you know. I must hurry off or I won't get back by 1."

Maud Denton started toward the office door, fear as date and Helen making more elaborate adjustment of furs and wraps. She took three steps down the corridor and then returned.

"What I told you was quite confidential," warned Maud. "Don't say anything about my saving, I mean."

"Goodness, no," assured Helen. "If Daddy Clark found out he might cut your wages. He turned me down cold when I asked for a raise the first of the year. I told him I didn't have enough to dress decently on and he told me I dressed more expensively than his own daughters, and it was a fact. Getting even, but that I was worth." So Maud was off, and after a bit of refreshment at a corner drug store hurried along, walking the mile that lay between the Clark office and hers respectively.

Maud was detained longer than she had expected, for there were other young office workers who had taken their noon hours this last Thursday in the month to make their deposits, and the line was fifteen deep when Maud arrived. It was without the slightest misgivings that she waited. It did not occur to her that any person would await her return or be inconvenienced by her returning to the office late.

It happened, however, that Willis Clark, Jr., whose direction Maud mistakenly took, had come in early from his own luncheon. He had looked at Maud's desk and found it empty.

"Nothing the matter with Miss Denton?" he had asked, turning to Helen.

"Oh, no," said Helen, with an irritating emphasis on the "no." "She had an important engagement. Anything I can do for you?"

It was Helen's manner more than Maud's lateness that really irritated Willis Clark, but he wouldn't have admitted it even to himself.

Often Willis Clark had had luncheon engagements to ask Maud to lunch with him, but never had he quite brought his courage to the sticking point. To-day, he had overheard Maud confirming a luncheon invitation from a colored lady in the firm. "I've made so many excuses to avoid luncheon engagements in business hours," she had said. Willis Clark had admired her decision when it came to the young man in question. He had formed at times the wish that a few of her decisions would find application in his own affairs, but he had never had the courage to tell her so. And now apparently Maud Denton had broken her rule. She had gone to lunch with some one and had remained out past her 1 o'clock hour.

"You're not sore because she's late?" Helen asked with what Willis Clark regarded as infinite impertinence.

"What's Miss Denton's own affair," said Mr. Clark. "She doesn't make a practice of coming in late, and I've had to speak to her about it." He added, and then, as Helen's eyes widened with surprise, "Perhaps I'd better see her."

Helen wondered why he had said anything at all.

"Oh, Maud isn't keeping a luncheon date," she gossiped. Here he'd stopped with a gasp. "I know where she's gone and why she's late but she asked me not to tell. You'd have scolded her if you could have heard her. Going as best I guess, it was not."

Willis Clark went into his office but he did not attend to the passage of important work. The day seemed slow on its desk. Instead he sat and stared. Maud Denton could not be in love with Jane's cousin. What would she see in a man like that? Why had she accepted him? Was it possible that she wanted to keep the matter a secret?

She might even gone in search of another position, but that was hardly likely when she had just received a raise in wage and had told her father that she knew she was safe. She felt that the interests of Clark & Son agreed with employees with the greatest satisfaction. It was not that sort of person that bored him. Perhaps he had some shooting that week-end, after all, what he cared. It was doubtless looking through the showrooms of some house-furnishing concern making selections of furniture and housekeeping equipment. Some one had asked Maud to marry him, while Willis Clark, had procrastinated and she had accepted and now it was too late.

He went to the door of his office and called to Helen. "Please tell Miss Denton, when she comes, that I have been asking for her. Tell her to come to my office at once."

When Maud went into Willis Clark's office her face was flushed with outdoor exercise plus the concern felt over Helen's report of Mr. Clark's annoyance over her delay. But this did not hide the feeling of contentment and satisfaction that had come with the making of that first deposit with the savings association. If she went on saving at this rate for the next twenty years, she had roughly estimated, then by the time she was forty-three she would have enough to buy a little cottage and settle down and get rid of her head. Then she could raise collie dogs or violets or Belgian hares or something and her future would have no terrors. She might even go on until she was fifty, then she would have an even more interesting savings. So it really didn't matter now whether she married or not. Always pat. It was a pleasure to think that she'd never have to marry just for the sake of supporting herself.

Mr. Clark opened very short conversation, but he made no allusion to her tardiness. It was not until a month later, the last Thursday in the month that the matter was discussed.

"I may be a little late," Maud told Mr. Clark, "if will mean up the time this afternoon. I am afraid it annoyed you the last time."

"It is quite all right," Willis Clark assured, and then he remembered the annoyance he had felt over her delay. "Of course if you have a luncheon engagement it is difficult to come back within the hour. Still I overheard you say once, Miss Denton, that you didn't accept lunch on invitations in business hours."

"I don't—usually," Maud said with a little blush. "But this time it is a business engagement. It's a big deal on hand, a little personal business."

"But you'll have to have luncheon—"

"Oh, I'll snatch that at the drug-store on the way," she said.

When Maud Denton went down in the elevator five minutes later Willis Clare was standing beside her. He followed her to the street, then to the corner, quite as if the meeting outside device had left him no choice but to go with the group. After he had had a bit of chocolate and sandwich, he laid a strong hand on her arm.

"Don't go in there!" he ordered. "Come with me to the Edgewood and afterward there'll be time enough to attend to your bit of business."

"But I don't usually accept luncheon invitations," protested Maud.

"This isn't actually is it."

And so Willis Clark and Maud Denton finished their first date. After the first Maud Denton found it easy to get permission to work with her in the office where she had to do her business.

"Is it something you don't want to tell me?" he asked. "I think I ought to be let in on this secret."

Maud hesitated. Then made her by the confession. "I am just going to the Savings association. You see, I thought it was time to save. It really wouldn't when all banks go out. If I go on saving for a number of years now, as I do, by the time I'm forty-four or five I'll be rich. I'm not much that I can almost retire on the girls it would be enough to buy my own little old lot or home somewhere. I would be very happy."

"You precious little miser," said Willis Clark, holding her arm closer to his side. "But are you going to keep on saving if you marry me? Who's the most important business I ever went before. I practically all were of these. Well go to the Savings association now and after that let's stop in at Parker's and look at furniture."

"But I'll be late—"

"Yes, and you'll probably have your job, but you don't care now, do you? You don't want to go on working for Clark & Son now, do you?"

And Maud said she didn't.

PUBLIC HEARINGS ON TAX MEASURES COMMITTEE PLAN

Belief is Bills Can be Scheduled for Hearing Latter Part of Month

NUMBER OF BILLS OFFERED IS SMALLER THIS YEAR

Time Limit on Introduction Expires Next Week

MADISON, Wis.—Public hearings on tax bills before the legislature will be held during the last week of this month if the finance committee is able to complete its hearings on departmental budgets before that time, it was announced Tuesday by Senator H. J. Severson and Speaker John L. Dahl of the assembly, authors of the two principle revenue measures.

Senator Severson expects that his bill, along with that of Speaker Dahl, can be scheduled February 28, 1919, of the largest legislative hearings in the history of the state is looked for when the bills come before the committee. Several days will be taken up hearing interested parties tell of the probable effect of the measures should they be enacted into law.

The joint finance committee reports that it can conclude its hearings on departmental budgets within the next two weeks. After that time bills covering the committee's conclusions on state finance needs will be reported out for action.

Only one more week remains for introduction of bills before the house from the floor. After February 15 the time limit on bills from members and from them to other members may bring to the general number of measures introduced from the floor. Up to the present time 1,000 bills have been offered, indicating that the total number will be much greater than in previous sessions.

While the hearings are directed through the finance committee, leaders there state that committees will speak for functioning efficiently and that by pushing the legislative program the journalism may be cleared of many important bills of the session and be ready for reading and ready for public hearing and action by the legislature.

PEOPLE FLEE AS BULL RUNS AMUCK IN BALTIMORE

BALTIMORE.—Despite the fact that the owner supposed it had been safely penned, a large bull escaped Sunday morning and caused a panic in the city. Many persons had narrow escapes from the animal, which gored several persons before it was killed by a policeman.

The bull was being led to the slaughter house when it broke away from its keeper and dashed down the street. Women and children fled in terror before the animal, which tossed several persons into the air. Many persons were chased to safety in stores and shops while others climbed fences to get out of the bull's way.

WILTON RESIDENT GIVES INSTRUMENT TO LEGION BAND

C. M. Crook of Wilton is a lover of music and a friend of ex-service men. When Mr. Crook read in the Tribune of the American Legion's appeal for old and discarded band instruments, he forthwith packed up a bass horn which he had stored in the attic and brought it to La Crosse in person to present it to the Legion for use by some needy and deserving veteran who wishes to play in the Legion band which is now being organized.

More instruments are needed, however. Anyone having a band instrument around the house which is not being used is asked by the Legion to loan it for use by some ex-service man who otherwise will be unable to take advantage of the state's offer of free musical instruction. The instruments most particularly desired at this time are cornets.

PENDING BILLS ARE DISCUSSED AT THE C. OF C. ON MONDAY

Harry Hirshheimer Tells of Menace in Pending Legislation; Dollar Day Feb. 15

Harry J. Hirshheimer gave an interesting and instructive talk on the legislation pending at Madison at the regular monthly meeting of the Merchants' Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce held Monday evening.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Hirshheimer stated that at no time in the history of state legislation have the bills pending before the law making bodies been as full of menace to the industrial life of the state as they are today. He explained in detail the workings of the new tax bills, the Severson tax bill, the Dahl tax bill and the administration tax bill, besides touching briefly upon other bills which will, if passed, affect materially the business interests of the state.

It was decided by the merchants at the meeting to hold the next dollar day on Thursday, February 15.

MEN, LIKE CATS, MAY ROAM, BUT THEY COME BACK HOME IN END

BY ROY J. GIBBONS
(NEA Staff Correspondent.)

CHICAGO, Ill.—Out of every ten men who leave their wives for other women, nine return, begging to be forgiven.

Statistics prove it.

This is according to Mrs. Josephine H. Lawrence, director of the Cook County Social Service bureau, whose principal business is keeping families united.

No contested divorce suit gets into the Cook county courts that Mrs. Lawrence hasn't investigated. She's against divorce in all its forms, especially if there are children. Even if a husband has strayed, she opposes it. "You may not want to forgive him—you'd better, though—but as long as he's your husband, you can make him support the family. Divorcing an errant husband is the biggest mistake a woman can make, considering to pay." Thus says Mrs. Lawrence.

Let Them Roam

What makes husbands stray? "It's a primitive urge," says this author ity. "They want to be free for a spell. Let them roam. All the chances are they'll be back again."

The time a man's in the greatest peril of being "vamped," Mrs. Lawrence says, is after the third year of marriage, and also after there are several babies in his home. "And 95 per cent of these cases arise," she adds, "because the wife doesn't take the right care of herself. She becomes careless in dress and appearance."

But after the "vamp's" got a man it isn't so easy for her to hold him. Why not?

"Well, for one thing," says Mrs. Lawrence, "the probabilities are he liked his wife's cooking best. That's a big reason. And he misses the sound of her voice. An awful lonesomeness settles upon a person who's separated from one he's lived with for years in intimate association.

Animals of Environment

Most men, too, are animals of environment but having created one environment for themselves, they can't get used to a new one. Nor are deserting husbands ever so bad that they fail to feel the pangs of remorse or the longing to undo the harm they've done.

"Regeneration generally begins to manifest itself about the second month, and the average runaway husband reappears at home two or three months later, the additional time being necessary to confirm him in his first estimate of his own wickedness.

Mrs. Lawrence's initial rule for a happy married life is:

"Marry for love and work for silver."

"Premaritmonial luxury," she warns, "makes the risks greater. The couple will get on all the better later if the road's a little rough at the start, because it will make them careful.

"No man should marry before he is 22—no woman before she is 21.

"Horse sense is the great essential for any marriage."

Mrs. Lawrence's position perhaps has no counterpart in the world.

She has:

Listened to 100,000 divorce complaints.

Reconciled 50,000 couples.

Found homes for hundreds of abandoned children.

Provided shelter for more unwed mothers than she can remember.

Brought aid to thousands of prisoners.

Supervised a visiting nurses' staff.

Cured great numbers of dope victims.

Looked after countless stray dogs and cats.

Carried her work, as a volunteer, into many rural districts.

All this in the thirteen years that she has directed the destinies of the Cook County Social Service bureau, which she created.

MEN,

married or single, possess a highly developed homing instinct, probably born of the days when they sought their protective caves in prehistoric wilds. Once established in a home, no matter what the outside attractions, back the average man will come.

CATS,

due to a semi-circular arrangement of canals behind the ears, possess unerring instinct of direction toward home. You simply can't lose a cat, try as you may. If the distance is within its power to travel, 'twill "come back" every time.

Fireless Cooking and Use of Steam

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH of Columbia University.

Much has been written about the digestibility of foods cooked by various methods, but not quite so much has been said concerning the development of flavor.

Cookery teachers, who have the opportunity to experiment, are working with steam pressure and fireless cookers, to find out how the flavor of meats and vegetables is affected.

The woman of today objects to spending hours preparing a dish, if it can be cooked in less time without changing digestibility or flavor too much.

Of course, the fireless cooker is a new apparatus, using the old, well-known fact that heat obtained by cooking over a direct flame may be retained for hours, if the kettle or dish is protected so as to prevent its loss. Fireless cookers may be made, using straw or hay between the outer receptacle and the inner dish containing the hot food. The new fireless cookers rely on a vacuum. One can cook a stew or ham for a given length of time on the stove, place it in the fireless, leave it, and after several hours the meat or stew is thoroughly done and needs only reheating.

In pressure cookery, the material is placed under steam pressure for a very short time. For instance, meat requiring several hours' cooking may be made tender in a pressure cooker, under 15 or 20 pounds of steam, in 30 minutes. The flavor is good, especially if the meat is browned before putting into the kettle, and less seasonings are required, as there is no chance for the flavor to escape into the air.

The initial cost of these cookers is considerable, but they save time, and a housekeeper must spend time or money to get results.

The home economics department at Cornell has a bulletin on "Fireless and Steam Pressure Cookers," which may be obtained by writing to Cornell.

Stew By Fireless Method

To make a stew by fireless cookery method:

2 pounds shin of beef.
1 pound fresh pork.
2 onions.
2 cloves or beans of garlic.
3 tablespoons fat.
3 tablespoons flour.
1 teaspoon paprika.
1 can or 3 cups tomatoes.
1 cup potato balls.
1 cup glazed onions.
1 teaspoon salt.
⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Remove meat from bone and cut into small pieces. Cut pork into same sized pieces. Remove marrow if any from bone, or use any other kind of fat, heat it and in it fry the onions, garlic and meat. Sprinkle with the flour, paprika, salt and pepper. Add tomatoes and cook 25 minutes.

The potatoes may be balls cut with a vegetable cutter, or just cubes of potatoes. Parboil 10 minutes. Drain and add to meat.

The onions are peeled and parboiled ten minutes, then cooked in one tablespoon each butter and sugar until brown. Add to stew, cook ten minutes. Place stew, closely covered, in the cooker. Let stand four hours. Remove from cooker and reheat before serving.

Dumplings may be cooked in the stew at the time of reheating.

VANITY CASES

Smart vanity cases are worn now about the wrist. They come in black enamel, jeweled or plain, and finished about the wrist with a cord from which hangs a long black tassel.

DIAMONDS AND JADE

The combination of jade and diamonds is a pleasing one when it occurs in a pair of ear rings. The carved jade drop suspends from a double chain of tiny diamonds.

NEW STYLES IN HEADGEAR FOR INFANTS

COPYRIGHT BY McCALLS

These are the latest Paris models in bonnets for girl babies.

One is trimmed only with smocking that shirs the bonnet close around the face.

Others are edged with sheer lace or embroidered in tiny flower patterns.

One or two are severly plain.

Fine challis, silks and batiste are used in the construction of these smart and entirely fashionable chapeaux.

The newest bracelets are worn as near the shoulder as possible. They are jeweled or channeled, so that they give an effect of barbaric color.

QUILTED JACKETS

Quilted silk is used to make smart little short jackets that are worn with straight, plain skirts. Sometimes beading, embroidery or braiding is used about the collar and cuffs. In Paris, these quilted garments are extensively shown.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

The wedding eve, or Polterabend, as it is called, is a very noisy, joyful affair in Germany.

After a dinner, to which the couple's relatives and friends are invited, is an evening of entertainment consisting of short plays, operettas or charades; then a dance.

Just before the guests leave, every article of crockery or glass is broken and cast out of the house. This is supposed to bring good luck.

MILWAUKEE LAWYER ANSWERS TO SECOND FRAUD INDICTMENT

Obtained Money from Clients Under False Pretenses is Charge

MILWAUKEE.—Raymond J. Cannon, attorney, surrendered himself and gave bail late Monday on a second indictment returned against him by the county grand jury.

The second true bill charges that Mr. Cannon obtained money on false pretenses in two cases in which he was retained as an attorney.

In one case he is alleged to have told his client that the charges against him were raised from contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl to a much more serious charge, and thereby to have obtained an additional $100 retaining fee and $100 on the pretense that he could keep the story from the newspapers, the true bill declares.

The second case was that of Frank [illegible] who was accused of an offense against Veronia Peplinski. Mr. Cannon told this client, according to the indictment, that he must pay $500 more to cover the serious charges that had been lodged against him.

Mr. Cannon was indicted last Friday on the charge of attempting to bribe the district attorney with a case of champagne.

FINDS SIGN OF SPRING

Driving his car up Cameron avenue between Fourth and Fifth streets Monday afternoon, Dewey Busse, 1021 South Sixth street, suddenly clamped on the brakes, skidded to a stop, rubbed his eyes and took a second look at something in the road ahead of the machine. Then he got out, picked up the object he had seen and putting it in his pocket, dashed to the Tribune office. A minute later he laid the object on the city editor's desk. It was a live frog. Maybe that groundhog thawed out, too, along with his shadows, and maybe spring is coming, after all.

POOL MEMBERS ARE BEHIND ACTION OF THE POOL OFFICERS

Coon Valley Tobacco Pool Members Endorse Injunction Proceedings of Officials

A meeting of the members of the Northern Wisconsin Tobacco Pool in the Coon Valley district was held Monday afternoon at Coon Valley. The meeting was attended by about 600 growers according to the information given out by Selmer Neprud, field manager of the pool, and a unanimous vote was cast recommending the action of the pool in securing the temporary injunction restraining the M. H. Bekkedal and Sons, and their agents, from buying tobacco from pool members or in any way interfering with the activities of the pool.

The meeting was addressed by Jens Davidson, Westby, president of the pool, and Mr. Neprud. A meeting was held Tuesday afternoon at Chaseburg, and another is scheduled for Wednesday at La Farge.

Mr. Neprud stated that the sentiment of the members of the pool is all in favor of the action taken by its officials, and that practically all have become convinced that the [illegible] er prices offered by outside buyers are a part of a scheme to wreck the pool.

MILWAUKEE SOLON ASKS DATA ON TAX BORNE BY INDUSTRY

Would Have Tax Commission Inform Legislature as to Whether Burden is Unfair

MADISON, Wis.—As an outgrowth of the controversy between Governor Blaine and Z. G. Simmons of the Simmons Manufacturing Company, Kenosha, over Wisconsin taxes, Assemblyman Thomas Duncan, Milwaukee, Tuesday introduced a resolution into the lower house of the legislature requesting the Tax Commission to advise the state whether its revenue laws have unduly burdened industry.

"Claim is made that the state has placed an unfair tax burden upon the manufacturing industries of this state," the resolution reads. "To determine this, the tax commission is directed to furnish the legislature information upon the amount of taxes which corporations have to pay in a number of representative Wisconsin cities as compared with taxes corporations pay in Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, New York and Massachusetts.

"It is also directed to furnish information to show the effect the income tax has upon the progress of manufacturing in Wisconsin since its enactment in 1911, and particularly whether this tax has driven industry from the state, as disclosed by the United States census and other reliable sources of information."

French Invade Hesse

LONDON.—A report that the French have advanced twenty five miles beyond the frontier, occupying Gaddelau in Hesse reached London Tuesday in an Essen dispatch to the Times. The correspondent adds that the Germans momentarily expect the occupation of Mannheim.

Thyssen Plants on Full Time

HAMBORN, Germany.—Sixty-six thousand workmen employed in the various Thyssen plants at Hamborn, Muelheim, Duisberg and Dinslaken, are working full time three eight-hour shifts a day and have not been affected either by the railroad strike or lack of fuel.

Locomotives are busy shunting cars in the immense railroad yard of the plants which cover about ten square miles. They are built around seven pitheads and are thus provided each day with sufficient coal to supply the entire works with motive power.

"The French occupation has not interfered with us," is the opinion expressed at the Thyssen plants. "As a matter of fact it has helped us. We were having a lot of trouble with the communist element among our workers, but the French occupation and the arrest of Fritz Thyssen lines them up solidly behind us."

Many industries in the Ruhr are in a similar situation, mining their own coal within a few hundred yards of the works.

Navigation is at a complete standstill. At Ruhrort the correspondent saw two tugs flying the Dutch flag and one with the French emblem, hauling two coal barges up the Rhine toward Alsace. The river was practically deserted.

The industrial magnates have not lost courage. "We can hold out as long as the French can," seems to be the consensus of opinion.

BLACK RIVER PLANS BEFORE SUPERVISORS TUESDAY AFTERNOON

C. L. V. Craft Seeks Site for Autoists' Information Booth on Courthouse Square

The Black river project was made a special order for Tuesday afternoon by the county supervisors, who met in special session Tuesday morning. Supervisor Barney Olsen, chairman of the special Black river improvement committee, reported that the enabling act, empowering the county to proceed with the work of closing chutes and repairing breaks through which the waters of the river were flowing, thus restoring the water to its original channel, had passed the assembly and in all probability would soon be passed by the senate. Mr. Olsen desires to proceed with the work of repairing the breaks while the water is low and the ice thick enough for teams to haul materials for the construction work. Mr. Olsen has been fighting for the past three months to have the work done now, otherwise he contends the project will have to go over for another year.

C. L. V. Craft, president of the La Crosse Automobile club, addressed the board, making a request for the right to have the "house by the side of the road," an information booth being erected throughout the state by the Wisconsin Motorists association for the benefit of tourists, placed at the southeast corner of the courthouse square. Mr. Craft said this spot was the most centrally located one in the center of the city as the lines of all three state highways through the city met at that point. Mr. Craft's request was made a special order for the afternoon.

The board unanimously voted a blind aid pension of $150 a year for William J. Boyd, who has been blind for 23 years.

Chairman Davis reported that the bond issue of $210,000 for highways had been disposed of to Lane, Piper & Jaffray company of Minneapolis, and the First Wisconsin company of Milwaukee, acting jointly, at a premium of $1,352.50. The bonds will draw interest of 4½ per cent. "La Crosse is the only county in the northwestern states that has been able to dispose of bonds at such a low rate of interest," said Mr. Davis. "That speaks well for the credit and fine rating of the county." The report was adopted.

Supervisor Pettingill called attention to errors in the table of appropriations printed in the proceedings of the last annual meeting. Supervisor Fletcher said that if they were mistakes by the printer he should make good the mistake in printing new proceedings and if it were a mistake on the part of the county, the county should rectify it. After the meeting it was found by Mr. Pettingill and County Clerk Staats that there were errors in the copy sent to the printers.

FIRE DAMAGES BARN OF DR. G. W. LUECK TUESDAY MORNING

Fire believed to have been caused from a heater involved a damage of approximately $100 to a barn, the property of Dr. George W. Lueck, 933 Rose street, Tuesday morning. The alarm came in to Central fire station at 11:55.

Fire officials explained that an automobile, stored in the building, was removed before it was damaged, the entire loss being involved in the damage to the building itself.

ing what time Richard Washburn Child was departing. It was thought the Turkish Foreign Minister desired to leave the path for definite action open until the last moment.

Ambassador Child and Marquis Di Garroni of Italy left for Rome shortly after noon. Ismet saw them off at the station, but submitted no definite plan for a settlement.

No Reason for not Signing

The members of the Italian delegation said that with the economic chapters of the treaty reserved for future negotiations there seemed no reason why the Turks could not sign, but as both the English and French delegations had departed the Turks were hesitating to take formal action.

The Italians expressed the hope that an amended treaty could be signed at Lausanne or elsewhere later when, through regular diplomatic channels a definite understanding should have been reached.

The Japanese delegation will leave Tuesday night under the impression that nothing more can be accomplished at Lausanne at this moment. Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol of the American delegation also will leave tonight for Constantinople his purpose being to catch the touring liner Homeric at Naples, if possible.

The Russian delegation asked Great Britain, France and Italy as the inviting powers, to notify the Russians of the place and time at which the negotiations would be resumed.

1922 PLACEMENTS OF STATE JOB OFFICES TOTAL OVER 100,000

Eleven Employment Offices Conducted by State and Nation Show Good Record

MADISON, Wis.—During 1922, 113,655 persons secured positions through the eleven public employment offices maintained jointly by the state and federal governments, the industrial commission announced Tuesday.

Of these placements 66,267 were made by the Milwaukee office. The ten other cities maintaining offices are: Ashland, Green Bay, La Crosse, Madison, Oshkosh, Racine, Rhinelander, Sheboygan, Superior and Wausau.

The total amount contributed by the eleven localities for the support of these offices is $11,915.82. The average cost of placement was 57 cents. Of this 57 cents, 13 cents represents the cost to the localities, 42 cents to the state and two cents to the federal government. The government contributes $1,800 a year.

CONCERT MONDAY NIGHT PLEASING EVENT AT THEATER

The Shrine Club of La Crosse gave theater-goers an evening which was thoroughly enjoyed when they brought the Glee, Mandolin and Banjo Club of Wisconsin University here to present its lively and entertaining program. There were some 20 excellent voices, chorus work done with a buoyant zest, clean enunciation and a nicety of shading. The songs too were well chosen varying from ringing call of the sea in "Sea Fever" to the frankly sentimental type.

The swinging rhythm achieved by the mandolin and banjo groups set the feet to tapping through the house. The novelty quartet proved very popular. But the impassive Mr. Fletcher with his banjo, and his most absurd little songs made a marked hit. The Piano selections given by Mr. Arthur as well as the baritone solos of Mr. Schroeder were most pleasing.

No single piece of work was more thoroughly artistic than was the Gypsy Love Song from The Fortune Teller, Victor Herbert's, given by the Glee Club, accompanied by the Mandolin and Banjo Clubs.

The snappy precision with which the program moved from number to number, the gay exuberant youth, the laughter, the whimsical tenderness combined to produce one of the most delightful evenings of entertainment here recently.

HARRY WILLIAMS IS PRESIDENT OF THE BOY SCOUTS

New Officers Elected at Annual Meeting of the Local Council

At a regular meeting of the La Crosse Council, on February 5th, the recommendations of the nominating committee for the new officers for 1923 of the La Crosse Council of Boy Scouts of America were read and approved.

Dr. W. E. Bannen, who has been the father of scouting since its organization here on October 1, 1921, has handed in his resignation. Though he will support the Scout movement, he does not feel that he can give the increased amount of time that is required of the president of the scout council, owing to its tremendous growth. Scouting has been increased 500 percent since Dr. Bannen took charge of the organization.

The new officers for the year are: President, H. O. Williams; first vice president, P. J. Iverson; second vice president, W. D. Noble; third vice president, F. A. Reinau; treasurer, Roy Davidson.

Mr. Williams is well known to nearly everyone in the city of La Crosse. Mr. P. J. Iverson is father of three boy Scouts and after Wednesday evening, the record of three first class Scouts in one family will be hard to beat, even throughout the State.

Mr. Noble has been a tireless worker in scouting.

Mr. Reinau is a father of a Second Class Scout, and Roy Davidson who has been treasurer the past year and has [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] difficulties of the Boy Scouts organization, was re-elected.

Scout Executive, Albert E. [illegible] was elected to fill the office of Scout Executive until October 1, 1923 and if during 1923, scouting does not confine itself in service to the community, under the leadership of such a staff of officers as the president, vice presidents, treasurer and executive, a great disappointment is in store for the supporters of this wonderful organization.

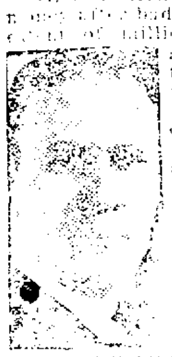
"RE-LOADING" IS SHARE USED IN STOCK SWINDLES

It's System of Selling More Worthless Stock to Early Suckers

BY HOWARD A. SCHWAB



NEW YORK.— Throwing good money after bad is indulged in to the extent of millions of dollars by suckers who do not take the trouble to investigate.

There is a scheme called "re-loading," which, in certain instances, may be legitimate.

Often, however, it is merely a system of unloading more worthless stock upon suckers who have lost the money already invested but don't know it. Or if the stock isn't already worthless ...

[illegible]

Salesmen Get Busy

[illegible]

But instead of selling new stock it bought old stock in the open market at from $3 to $5 a share and resold it to stockholders at $40 per share on the claim that it could soon be disposed of in a syndicate killing at $50.

The swindlers' profit was nearly $28 a share. The company was not bettered financially, but lost the stockholders' confidence. And the "re-loaded" stockholders lost all, or virtually all, of the money they had invested.

Avenues of Service

REGINALD McKENNA, head of the largest bank in the world, says that "Splendid isolation is a dream;" a truth which every industrial leader accepts as axiomatic. Had he substituted monopoly for isolation he would have expressed another self-evident truth which would have been acclaimed by every man who has given serious thought to the development of business on a large scale.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a big business striving to do a big job in a big way, yet no thought is given to achieving a monoply; for those who direct the Company's activities know that in any basic industry such an ambition is impossible of fulfillment. Competition is welcome, for no single organization can hope to serve the people of the Middle West with petroleum products as they should be served. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) enjoys a large volume of business and is satisfied to let this volume take care of its profits.

There is a reciprocal bond between every great industrial organization and the social environment in which it operates. An organization is truly great only when the service it renders is great.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is in daily contact with a community of about 30 million people.

It serves them through a host of useful products refined from petroleum. Through these products it touches the home and industrial life of the people. It enters the sick chamber with mineral oil and petroleum jelly. It enters the factory, the roundhouse, and the farmyard with lubricating oils for machines, engines, and tractors. It seeks the farm home with gasoline, kerosene, candles and parowax. It touches the railroad right of way with Fortnite Long Time Burner Oil for signal lamps; it supplies thousands of public and private garages with gasoline and lubricants. It feeds the furnaces of homes and factories with Stanolind Furnace Oil. It goes to the hospital with Stanolind Surgical Wax. It paves the streets with Stanolind Paving Asphalt.

These are but a few of the avenues of service which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) maintains. To keep these avenues open the Company operates 1700 service stations, 3900 bulk stations, 7000 tank wagons serving thousands of garages, and 6 great refineries to supply their needs.

Thus does the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) acknowledge its reciprocal bond, and by creating a host of useful, essential products from a single basic raw material — crude petroleum — justify its claim to master craftsmanship in industrial husbandry.

M'BRIDE OF IOWA SUCCEEDS HUTTON AS "DRY" CHIEF

Brother of Illinois Anti-Saloon League Chief Heads Wisconsin Organization

"PUNCH FROM MADISON" NEEDED IN DRY CAMPAIGN SAYS HUTTON

Retiring Official Declares Return of Beer Won't Solve Problem

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—David L. McBride, College Spring, Iowa, was elected Monday by Headquarters committee of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league to succeed R. P. Hutton as superintendent of the league.

Mr. McBride is a brother of Scott McBride, superintendent of the Illinois Anti-Saloon league. He has been connected for some years with the Iowa league.

Samuel Plantz, president of Lawrence college, was present at the meeting of the committee.

Beer Won't Solve Problem

MADISON, Wis.—"Not beer from Milwaukee, but 'punch'—law enforcement—from Madison, is the antidote for moonshine liquor in Wisconsin," R. P. Hutton, retiring superintendent of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league, declared in a statement to the headquarters committee Tuesday.

"To put moonshine out of society's mansion, put 'punch' into the executive mansion. Beer won't solve the enforcement problem," Mr. Hutton said, and added that "when the propaganda fund of the multi-millionaire profiteers is exhausted there will be a hush in the holler for beer. As long as the beer millions hold out, a few high-brows, parlor socialists and society sissies will talk about 'personal liberty,' and coupon cutting beneficiaries of liquor dividends will weep for the 'working man's beer,' and hire cheap vaudeville performers to weep with them but even alcohol will not preserve a 'rotten' act forever. Cheer up. Slowly sunshine is conquering moonshine."

Has Best Dry Code

Mr. Hutton in his statement paid a tribute to the work of the state's leaders in dry agitation. [illegible] political differences were forgotten he said, and it was this [illegible] of Wisconsin's dry leaders [illegible] Wisconsin's Severson law [illegible] with the best bulldozer state dry codes.

"The dry cause, like every other issue, gets fairer space and a fairer statement of both sides in the Wisconsin press than almost anywhere in America, the statement said.

"Wisconsin raises more money and carries on more work than any other state league in proportion to population, and more actually than any other state except New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois. PROTEST PRESENCE OF DRY AGENTS AT MICHIGAN "U" HOP

University Stirred by Reports State Will Send Operatives to Annual Dance

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—A protest to the federal prohibition enforcement director at Detroit against announced plans to send two operatives to the University of Michigan "J. Hop" Friday evening, was in prospect Tuesday. Faculty and students alike were stirred by the report that liquor agents planned to mingle with the guests at the university's leading social event, and the imputation that the dry laws might be infringed.

The order by Prohibition Director Davis, "bordered on an insult to the 700 young men and their guests and the members of the faculty who are to attend" in the opinion of Dr. Joseph Bursley, dean of men. Other members of the faculty expressed themselves in a similar vein.

President Marion L. Burton had made no statement Tuesday. With Mrs. Burton he will attend the ball as will deans of all departments and members of the various faculties, with their wives.

TAKE SALTS IF RHEUMATISM IS BOTHERING YOU

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts to Get Rid of Toxic Acid.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat no sweets for awhile, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid or body waste matter, that is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this toxic acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, and stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

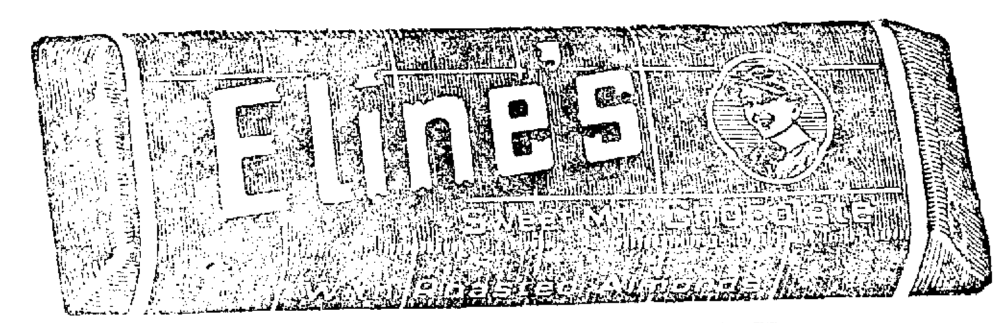
Undernourished Children Need



Chocolate Bars

60 to 70 percent of city school children suffer physical impairments due to undernourishment (New York and Chicago health surveys).

Undernourishment may mean lack of food, but more often it is an unbalanced ration.

Children require protein, carbohydrates and vitamines for physical and mental normalcy. They get all these elements in delicious form in Eline's Sweet Milk Chocolate Bars.

Eline Bars contain ample protein in the nuts and milk—and an abundance of carbohydrates in the sugar. The vitamines in the milk fire the protein and carbohydrates and render them available for energy.

Eline's use the choicest cocoa beans (rich in butter fat); pure, refined sugar, and nourishing whole-cream milk from cows that feed in the fertile emerald green fields of Wisconsin and drink crystal pure water from spring-fed lakes and babbling brooks.

Eline Bars do not contain an ounce of skimmed or powdered milk. They are rich to taste, persuasive in aroma, and delicious in flavor, yet they cost no more than common chocolate.

INTERVIEW THREE PROSPECTIVE GRID COACHES AT "U"

Jack Ryan, "Hod" Ofstie and Harry Hughes Have Been Consulted at Madison

DIRECTOR JONES INTIMATES OTHERS WILL BE BROUGHT IN

Pat Page of Butler May be Interviewed on Subject

By BOB DUNN

Three of Wisconsin's prospective football coaches have been interviewed by the Badger athletic council and Coach Jones director of athletics, during the past week. The three prospects who have been to Madison are Jack Ryan, Hod Ofstie and Harry Hughes.

Each of the three men who have been interviewed has a good record [illegible] and would probably make a good choice. There is considerable sentiment in favor of Ofstie, who is a Wisconsin man and also for Ryan [illegible] and the eastern part of the state. Ryan formerly coached at Marquette.

To Interview Others

Director Jones has intimated that [illegible] prospects would be interviewed and more men brought to Madison than they had anticipated. It is probable that Pat Page of Butler and formerly of Chicago will be [illegible] brought in.

It is known, however, whether [illegible] consider the Wisconsin job. He now has a pretty good thing [illegible] he is director of athletics [illegible] has been enjoying a lot of success since he left Chicago and [illegible] coaching reins there. He has not definitely whether he will accept the Badger coaching [illegible] proposition. Page will [illegible] Madison to talk things over, [illegible] he can leave his basketball team a few days.

No Decision Before March

[illegible] several more prospects to be [illegible] seems certain, according to [illegible] no definite selection of a coach will be made before March 1. Badger fans, however are elated over a definite selection of a coach before spring so he can take charge of the spring football [illegible] and get a good line on [illegible] in the spring workouts.

BADGERS' PLACE IN STANDING DETERMINED BY WHAT QUINT DOES IN GAMES THIS WEEK

By BOB DUNN

WHAT Wisconsin does in its two conference games this week will determine largely whether the Badgers will repose at the top or near the top of the column at the end of the basketball season.

Tuesday night Coach Meanwell's men clash with Purdue. Since its defeat by Northwestern in the first Big Ten tilt for the Boilermakers, Purdue has braced and is now conceded to be one of the strongest teams in the conference.

The second big clash of the week for Wisconsin will be the game with Coach Mather's Wolverines.

The Michigan game was scheduled to be played at Ann Arbor Saturday night but there is a strong possibility that the game will be transferred to Madison.

May Shift Michigan Game

The Michigan Hop is to be held on Friday night in the gymnasium where the Wisconsin-Michigan game is scheduled to be played on Saturday. Coach Meanwell is not in favor of sending his men into one of the most important conference games of the season on a slippery floor for the gym is bound to be in slippery condition following the big dance.

Definite word has not been received yet as to whether the scene of the battle will be shifted or not but the Wisconsin officials are attempting to make the change. If the Michigan game is played at Madison this week, the second meeting between the two teams will be arranged for Ann Arbor.

All the members of the Wisconsin squad came through their semester examinations with flying colors, according to the coach, so there is no more worry due from ineligibility as far as the basketball squad is concerned this season.

At La Fayette

The Badgers put in their last home practice for the Purdue game on Saturday. They left for La Fayette early in order to recuperate after the long trip in time to be in the best of shape for the big game.

With four victories and no defeats, the Badgers were favored in their first basketball tilt with Purdue but the players were by no means overconfident when they left. All realized that they would have to put up their best brand of ball to win from the Purdue five.

GOLF WITH MEALS INSTEAD OF JAZZ BAND IS POPULAR INNOVATION INSTALLED IN A CHICAGO RESTAURANT; LINKS BUSY ALL DAY

CHICAGO.—Golf with meals instead of a jazz orchestra has been proved a success by a popular Chicago restaurant, which recently installed an indoor link in connection with its dining room. Patrons even pay extra for their golf and flock to the cafe where they can spend from fifteen minutes to an hour driving into a net or putting over a miniature link before gathering around the tables for food. Regular customers hold tournaments each week.

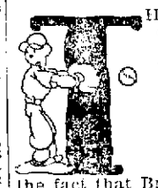
After a few days' operation of the golf course, many diners who had never seen the game played began to take interest and from the numerous spectators scores of embryo golfers ventured to take up the Scottish game. The course is busy from midday until midnight, with players waiting in line to get on the first tee.

BULLSEYES of BASEBALL

COPYRIGHT BY NEA SERVICE

By BILLY EVANS

THE FREAKIEST BALL GAME I EVER SAW.



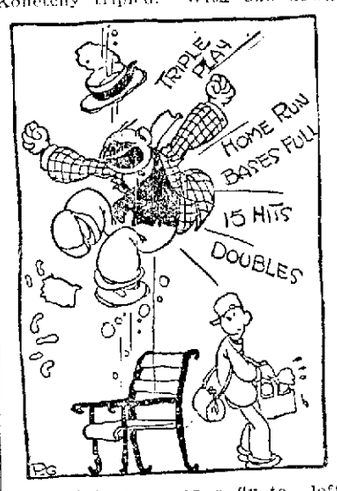
THE freakiest game I ever saw?

I would say that the fifth game of the 1920 world series, between Brooklyn and Cleveland, has that distinction.

Cleveland won that game 8 to 1. Despite the fact that Brooklyn made 15 hits, Jim Bagby, who pitched the game, deserved a shutout.

A number of times in the game it seemed that Brooklyn was certain to score, but always something prevented it.

In the second inning of the game Konetchy tripled. With one down he tried to score on a fly to left-fielder Jamieson. One of the greatest throws I have ever seen cut him down at the plate.



In the fifth inning, with runners on first and second and no one out, second baseman Wambsganss of Cleveland made his now-famous triple play, unassisted, that retired the side.

In the eighth inning on a hit-and-run play, Mitchell, who had hit the line drive that resulted in Wambsganss' triple play, broke up a rally by hitting into a double play.

The only Brooklyn run was the result of Doc Johnston's failure to handle a ground ball that was scored as a single, although it seemed as if the batsman should have been retired.

Fifteen hits by Brooklyn, two errors by Cleveland, and a wild pitch by Bagby, yet Brooklyn made only one run and really should have been shut out.

Now for another freaky angle.

In the very first inning Cleveland filled the bases with no one out, and Elmer Smith, Cleveland's home-run hitter up.

The making of a home run always carries a thrill. If it comes with the bases filled there is just that much more punch to it. If it happens in a world series, oh, boy!

Well, that is just what happened. With Burleigh Grimes, leading pitcher of the National league, doing the hurling, Smith hit the ball over the right-field wall. Grimes says it was a spitball that failed to break. Never have I seen a home run carry a bigger thrill with it than Smith's world series wallop of 1920 with the bases filled.

Pitchers seldom make home runs at any time, yet Jim Bagby contributed one in this world series contest.

In the fielding line, Wambsganss' unassisted triple play was the outstanding feature.

Never have I seen, nor do I expect to see, a game that will equal the fifth game of the 1920 world series for freaky happenings and big thrills.

Next: The greatest pitching I ever saw.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS FOUR CONFERENCE CONTESTS TO DATE

Only Team on Schedule Yet to Be Met is Madison Central High School

Keogan Anticipating Good Game With Tomah Friday

With the addition of the University High victory last Friday night the local high school basketball team has played and won four conference battles and has a bright outlook for the future.

The only team on the schedule with which the locals have not yet clashed is Madison Central High. They will be met on the capital city floor for the first time this year on February 16th. The remaining games of the schedule are all return games, the majority of which are out-of-town. Seven more scheduled contests are to be played off between now and March 9.

The next game to be played on the local floor is with Tomah High, this coming Friday, February 9. Although Tomah took the count in their first tilt with La Crosse, there is no doubt but what they will come back in much better condition and determined to avenge their first defeat.

At any rate, Coach Keogan is putting his men through strenuous workouts already this week in order to iron out the numerous faults evidenced in the University High game. All this week will be devoted to secret practices. Fans should see a great deal of improvement in the local squad when its appears on the scene Friday night.

RIVIERA TODAY

Bayard Veiller, stage producer and playwright, has produced one of his own original stories for Metro. It is "Sherlock Brown" and it affords Bert Lytell one of the best roles that he has ever played. It is now showing at the Riviera theatre.

Incidentally, two of the players who enacted important roles in Mr. Veiller's stage successes, "The Thirteenth Chair" and "Within the Law," are in cast for this screen drama.

De Witt Jennings, the iron-jawed police inspector of both of the stage productions mentioned, is seen in a similar role in the Lytell picture. The leading woman is Sylvia Breamer, star of numerous screen successes.

JACKIE COOGAN TRAGEDIAN IN "OLIVER TWIST"

According to an eastern newspaper editorial writer, Jackie Coogan, now appearing at the Majestic theatre, is not a comedian but a great tragedian.

"A widely circulated rumor," says the writer, "is that Jackie Coogan is a great comedian. Some have said he is second only to the great Chaplin, who first gave him prominence in 'The Kid.'

"After witnessing Jackie's silent drama performance, I am convinced that he is a great tragedian and not a comic at all. Perhaps Chaplin is considered a comedian rather than a tragedian because he seeks to fashion his antics after a pattern that appeals to the heart of a child.

"But Jackie Coogan is a child, a serious minded little one, who probes into the dim past of grown-ups and presents the retrospect of childhood's seriousness. Therein lies the tragic quality of his acting.

"A little boy trying to be funny is not comedy but there is ineffable poignancy in the sight of a tattered little scalawag trying to shoulder the troubles of the universe. It is thus I have found Jackie Coogan."

Jackie has scored his biggest sensation in "Oliver Twist," now at the Majestic theatre.

STRAND TODAY

Porter Strong, the humorous and beloved Romeo Washington of the new D. W. Griffith picture, "One Exciting Night," a United Artists release, at the Strand theatre tonight, literally started at the foot of the ladder in "medicine shows," went up a peg to minstredsy and finally blossomed forth as a "singing waiter" in far western cafes.

He became known as the country's best "coon shouter" and coming east won first prize at a great public coon-shouting contest in Madison Square Garden, New York. At the peak of his success as cabaret entertainer, Porter Strong's annual income ranged from $15,000 to $36,000 a year.

NEW PHOTOPLAY STORY OF DESERT AND ORIENT

Starting tomorrow, and continuing for four days, the feature at the Rivoli theatre will be "The Voice From the Minaret," Norma Talmadge's latest offering.

A new picture with this popular star is an event in the lives of the lovers of motion pictures, and Manager Koppelberger is preparing for record-breaking crowds, especially in view of the fact that the picture is pronounced Miss Talmadge's best and that Eugene O'Brien appears in it as her leading man.

A story of the Orient and the desert, "The Voice From the Minaret" holds one spellbound through its beauty and its dramatic power. It relates the adventurous romance of a noblewoman and a youth from England, traveling on a pilgrimage through the deserts, and whose love transcends obstacles and difficulties.

CASINO TODAY

In one of the scenes of "Divorce Coupons," which will be shown at the Casino theatre today, there is a beautiful mahogany door with heavy carving around the panel and a beautiful grain in the panel.

This door was made from a massive, antique bedstead which belonged to one of the early New York families.

The door is used in "Divorce Coupons" and some beautiful shots were taken against it.

"Divorce Coupons" is a story that will appeal to the average motion picture fan because of its unusual twists and turns. It furnishes Corinne Griffith with unlimited opportunities.

"TRIFLING WOMEN," DRAMATIC PHOTOPLAY

Rex Ingram's claim to film immortality is justified again in his remarkable new production, "Trifling Women," which comes on Thursday to the Riviera theatre. It is the latest achievement of the skillful director, whose name has become synonymous with the best in filmdom, and a guarantee of exceptional screen merit. It equals and, in some particulars, surpasses his earlier efforts, and should win a high place among the best of the season's photoplays.

The brilliant director is himself both author and adaptor of his latest success.

The story is concerned with the fascination of Zareda, a crystal gazer, whose siren-like fascination attracts men into her net. How she attains wealth and power through a marriage with a wealthy Marquis; how she arranges his death to marry her young lover, Ivan; how she meets a terrible end with her lover when her husband finds them together, makes a graphic and dramatic story.

COMMISSION RULE MOVE AT APPLETON ABANDONED

APPLETON, Wis.—Efforts to oust the aldermanic government in Appleton to return to commission rule have been abandoned by leaders of the movement because of failure to secure a sufficient number of signatures to petitions for a special election. Less than 700 of the 1,700 names required have been signed to the petitions in the two months they have been in circulation.

PARIS-LONDON NIGHT AIR SERVICE TO GET TRYOUT

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—An experimental night air service between Paris and London began Monday evening with the departure from each capital of airplanes at 6:30 o'clock. On land special light signals were placed every 20 miles along the route, and in addition there is a system of signalling by colored lights from the air planes.

YEAR'S EXTENSION ON SCHOOL BONUS ASKED IN ASSEMBLY

MADISON, Wis.—An extension of the time limit set by the Wisconsin bonus law for one year or until February 1, 1924, was asked in a bill introduced in the lower house of the Wisconsin legislature Tuesday by Assemblyman Ethan B. Minier, New Richmond.

"The amendment of the statute will not mean any extra expense to the state," Mr. Minier stated, "as the money is collected and available. Many Legion posts and veterans throughout the state have been unable to take advantage of the provisions of the act by the time limit as previously set and this amendment merely lengthens that time one year so that no deserving person will lose out on the advantages of the act."

BOB FELICITATES BLAINE ON VICTORY IN SUPERIOR VOTE

MADISON, Wis.—Senator Robert M. La Follette Tuesday sent a message of congratulation to Governor Blaine on the outcome of the special senatorial primary in the Eleventh Wisconsin district, at which M. A. Kemp, La Follette-Blaine candidate, was victorious. The message follows:

"Congratulate you in Superior election. It is another assurance that the people of Wisconsin are unalterably demanding that you shall have the support of a progressive legislature. They have commissioned you to go straight through to the end of the furrow."

PASTOR SAYS RADIO OFFERS EASIEST WAY FOR WORSHIP

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—By The Associated Press—"America is looking for an easy way to worship and the radio offers that way," the Rev. Dr. Theodore G. Shuey, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church, declared Sunday night in a sermon in a downtown theater, taking as his text "The Radio and the Devil." Dr. Shuey declared the radio challenges the church, not because it sends sermons to the sick, but because the well stay at home and hear them.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK—Resumption of Monday's buying movement imparted a firm tone to opening prices in Tuesday's stock market. The demand embraced a wide list but was most effective in the oils, rails, equipments and steels. Baldwin advanced a point and Pan American, United States Steel, Studebaker and American Can opened ⅝ to ¾ above Monday night's closing figures. Crucible Steel rose 1¼ and Computing, Tabulating and Recording one. Royal Dutch sold 1¾ higher.

Buying spread over a much broader list as the morning progressed. Cluett Peabody was pushed up 3¼ points and Crucible Steel extended its gain to two points while gains of a point or more were registered by National Lead, American Can, Mack Truck, Shell Transport, Allied Chemical, American Ice, Corn Products, Houston Oil, Pullman and Chandler. Rail shares also continued in good demand, but except for a point gain in Canadian Pacific, the early advances were limited to fractions. Foreign exchanges showed little change from Monday's closing quotations, demand sterling selling around $4.68 and French francs dropping 10 points to 631.

Sales exceeding 400,000 shares during the first hour gave promise of a day's total of well over 1,000,000 shares. The course of prices indicated that the market had broken away from the restraint to which it had been subjected by the unfavorable foreign situation and that it had turned upward at least temporarily, in response to the cumulative effects of good domestic trade and business developments. Woolworth was pushed up 8¼ points and National Lead four, while among the other industrials to show gains of two points or more before noon were Gulf States Steel, Pressed Steel car, Consolidated Cigar, Pressed Steel Car, Willys Overland preferred and Manhattan Certificates. Rails followed the industrials into higher ground under the leadership of Delaware and Hudson which extended its early gain to 2½ points. Call money opened at 4½ per cent.

The rapidity of the advance induced profit-taking in several leaders after midday, Corn Products reacting nearly three points. Prices elsewhere forged steadily higher, the scope of the demand indicating a wider public participation. New Orleans, Texas and Mexico improved two points on the announcement of the increased dividend. General Cigar gained six points, Brooklyn Union Gas four, Chandler Motor, three, and Louisville and Nashville American Cotton Oil common and preferred, American Can, Atlantic Refining, Studebaker, Mackay Company and United States Tobacco, 2 to 2½.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Ill.—With indications at hand that Great Britain and Turkey might reach a peaceful settlement of differences, the wheat market averaged a little lower in price Tuesday during the early dealings. In this connection bulls were handicapped by the fact that wheat values at Liverpool appeared to be unresponsive to Monday's advance here. An increase in the United States visible supply total constituted a further element of weakness. The opening, which ranged from ¼ to ⅜c lower, with May $1.19¼ to $1.19⅜, and July $1.13⅝ to $1.13¾, was followed by a slight rally and then by a decline lower than before.

Toward the end of the day, general selling led to a more pronounced drop in prices. Late dispatches regarding the Turks were construed as increasing the likelihood of peace. Closing quotations were heavy, 1¼ to 1⅜c net lower, with May $1.18⅝ to $1.18½ and July $1.13¼ to $1.13¾.

Corn and oats were easier with wheat despite unfavorable advices regarding the Argentine crop. After opening unchanged to ⅜c off, May 75¼ to 75⅜c, the corn market underwent an additional sag.

Subsequently, July and September touched a new high price record for the season, but in the last hour the market was again affected by the weakness of wheat prices. Corn closed heavy, ¾ to 1⅛c net lower, with May 71⅞ to 74⅛c.

Oats started unchanged to 1c lower, May 45½ to 45⅝c. Later all months showed some setback.

Higher quotations on hogs gave a lift to the provision market.

PLACES LOCATION OF SATURDAY QUAKE IN THE SOUTH SEAS

Disturbance Centered Near Society Islands Claims Government Astronomer

SAN FRANCISCO—Professor T. J. J. See, government astronomer at Mare Island in a statement here Tuesday said he calculated from a study of press reports that the earthquake of last Saturday was in the south Pacific ocean near the Society Islands. Professor See said no other location of the disturbance was possible at a distance of 8,000 miles from Manila, 3,000 miles from Honolulu, 4,100 miles from Chicago, 5,000 miles from Washington and 4,200 miles from Berkeley, these being distances deduced from seismograph records.

Prof. See said his studies led him to the conclusion that a submarine mountain range was forming near the Society Islands.

SCHOOL DISTRICT NOT LIABLE FOR INJURY TO STUDENT

MADISON, Wis.—Until the legislature enacts a law making vocational schools responsible for injury to pupils working on their machines, school districts are not liable for compensation for such injuries, the Wisconsin supreme court held Tuesday.

It sustained a lower court decision holding that a boy, Daniel Sullivan of Tomah, who lost three fingers in an unprotected saw in the Tomah high school could not recover damages.

"The doctrine of non-liability of a municipality for performance of governmental functions is so deeply rooted in jurisprudence that in effect it has virtually attained the force of a statute," Justice Doerfler wrote. "Until the legislature by statute changes this, we must consider it our duty to adhere to former decisions and pronounce in favor of non-liability."

SCHOOL MERGER IS UPHELD IN RULING OF SUPREME COURT

MADISON, Wis.—School districts maintaining high schools may be united with districts without such schools, despite the resultant increase in taxation for districts not previously maintaining institutions for secondary education, the supreme court decided Tuesday. It reversed a decision of Judge E. Ray Stevens of the Dane county circuit court holding such consolidation unauthorized.

The court held that a school district with a high school was still an ordinary school district and subject to the same laws relating to consolidation as any other similar division. This holding has an important effect on the movement to unite districts of the state.

GIVING FALSE NEWS MADE MISDEMEANOR BY MINNESOTA ACT

Governor Signs Bill to Punish Furnishing Incorrect Information to Papers Maliciously

ST. PAUL—Practical jokers and malicious persons who amuse themselves by sending false notices of weddings, engagements or other "events" to newspapers will run foul of a new law signed Monday by Gov. J. A. O. Preus. It is a brief and simple measure. Under it any one "willfully, knowingly and maliciously" giving to a newspaper a false statement about any person or corporation is guilty of a misdemeanor. The law takes effect immediately.

Senator Chris Rosenmeier of Little Falls was author of the bill passed. Representative R. W. Hitchcock of Hibbing and Theodore Christianson of Dawson, both newspaper editors, were authors of the companion bill in the house, for which the Rosenmeier bill was substituted.

It is almost identical with a New York law. The bill passed the senate unanimously, and after some debate in the house passed there by 91 votes to 6. Instances where innocent people have been caused serious annoyance and humiliation by apparently harmless notices sent to newspapers were cited in support of the bill. It does not apply to cases where information is given in good faith but turns out to be erroneous. The act must be "willful and malicious."

TAKEN FOR THEFT ALSO FOUND TO HAVE BIG STILL

WINONA, Minn.—John Lodnek, 23 years old, 169 Olmsted street, was under arrest Tuesday on a complaint charging grand larceny in the second degree in connection with the theft of a quantity of lumber and candy from a box car, while authorities were seeking a man said to be his accomplice.

Officers raiding a houseboat moored at the river bank in the vicinity of the upper yards of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad in search of stolen goods recovered a portion of the loot, they reported, and incidentally found a still, a quantity of mash, and some moonshine liquor.

Beautiful girls arrayed in gorgeous trappings parade through scene after scene, the costumes being of every hue and nation.

The music is one of the big features of the Greenwich Village Follies and to insure a perfect rendition of the score, the company carries its own orchestra of seventeen.

BURNS TO DEATH IN FIRE WHICH DESTROYS HOME

WINONA, Minn.—William N. Berthe, 77 years old, pioneer resident and Civil war veteran, perished in the fire which gutted two rooms of his home at 223 East Howard street.

He was dead when firemen extricated his body from the cottage, where he had lived in seclusion since his wife died 11 years ago. His body was charred from head to foot, almost beyond recognition. All his clothing except a few shreds around his ankles was burned away.

Dr. J. W. Steiner, county coroner, said Tuesday that no inquest was necessary.

Firemen, who responded to a call sent in by neighbors, found his body lying on the floor against the outer door of the cottage, where he had probably fallen from suffocation and exhaustion after trying to make his exit. The firemen experienced difficulty in pushing open the door, and upon reaching behind it to remove the barrier, pulled out his body.

HIGHWAY NO. 9 TO RUN STRAIGHT FROM HOUSTON TO HOKAH

HOKAH, Minn.—As planned by the engineers of the state road work, Highway No. 9 comes in a direct line from Houston and heads straight for Hokah, passing along the south side of the railroad track the whole distance but will not take in the half-mile bend to the north at the Mound Prairie station, thereby saving that distance. At the place known as the Yellowbanks the point will be cut off and a fill put in with a bridge in its center. Two residences, the McKinnley and McKay houses, will be moved to accommodate the road on the south side of one street here. The road will be thirty feet wide all the way, graveled temporarily and, later, will be paved.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or la grippe. COLD WAVE FORCES SPARTA TO STOP ITS WORK ON BUILDINGS

Farmers Finding Ready Sale for Cord Wood at $9; Kiwanis Club Players Rehearsing

SPARTA, Wis.—Because of the extreme cold weather, the work on the new high school building and on the Masonic temple had to be shut down for a time, at least until it moderates. Saturday the men went to work on the buildings as usual, but the work was postponed. Work was also discontinued on the Cataract ridge, because of the cold. As usual Sparta kept her former reputation for being one of the coldest places in the country. The thermometer registered around 30 degrees below in places on Saturday morning, with not much improvement on Sunday. Monday it was considerably different, and it was only about fifteen below.

Many farmers are busy these days hauling in wood for the market, or on contract lots. Green block wood brings $2.75 per cord and the cord wood about $9 per cord. The farmers are finding a ready market for their wood, as the majority of people are burning more wood than formerly—the coal is so poor, and the price so high. Many, who haven't burned wood for years, are doing so this season.

The sixty people in the cast and chorus, for the home talent play, which is being staged by the Kiwanis club, are busy practicing every night this week, and getting in fine shape for the show, which will be given in the Armory Thursday and Friday nights of this week. The proceeds of the play will go into the Kiwanis club booster fund. The title of the play is "The Haunted Mummy." It is staged under the direction of Serb R. Burroughs and Judge R. A. Richards.

How To Insure Sales For Your Product!

The chief asset of any business is the demand for its product. As long as that demand continues, the business is on a sure foundation. But let that demand subside, and every other asset of the business is in danger of becoming a liability.

In times of prosperity and a rising market there is a general demand for the products of industry that comes to be accepted as a matter of course. It is seldom listed among the assets of the business—it is simply assumed that it will always be there.

But, overnight, conditions may change—as they have done before—and the matter-of-course demand becomes conspicuous by its absence. The business, once strong and flourishing, is suddenly found to be in a very tight place. The demand had not been insured—and yet the entire business depended upon its continuance.

The modern, economical way to insure the market for any reliable product is by Advertising to the public which consumes it. Advertising creates a steadily increasing number of customers who desire the product, and ask for it by name.

Changes in business conditions have little effect on a steady consumer demand for trade-marked articles of common use. The dealer may carry a lighter stock, and for a short time the demand through the jobber may seem curtailed; but just as sure as customers are calling on the dealer for the product, he is sure to supply it, and orders soon begin to flow in to make up for the temporary curtailment. The total consumption continues about the same.

Any manufacturer who has an article for popular consumption that can be trade-marked has the opportunity to insure his consumer market and retail sales by means of Advertising.

During the present business condition the manufacturers who have insured their demand by Advertising are in a far better position—in every way—than those who have trusted to the current demand that was not of their creating.
